

People

Submitted photos

From left, Dustin Linden, Jim Cave and Dontrail Potter from Col. Richardson High School participated in the "DADS" training.

A.J. Rausch, left, and Tom Hutson, right, both of North Caroline High School, work with Howard Davis from the Department of Social Services.

'DADS' training aids youth

CAROLINE COUNTY, Md. — In Caroline County, three adults and three teens are ready to provide "DADS Make a Difference" training to youth in grades six through nine. There are four lessons: "Risky Business," "Being a Legal Father," "Fathers and Their Families" and "Decisions Are For the Making." Training was provided by Maryland Cooperative Extension. To schedule training, call Donna Brinsfield, extension educator, at (410) 479-4030.